

Dear Sean & Steve Meggeson,

I'm sorry that this e'mail has taken some time to compose, but my daughter only arrived back in Hong Kong a few days ago, and I didn't see the reports until yesterday.

I'm very grateful for the tuition your Academy provided Victoria, and I have seen some of the work that she did - in document files on my portable computer she took with her.

I must admit that her Oscar Wilde files certainly looked impressive, and far above what I achieved in my UK Grammar School in the early 1950's - but I dropped the "English Literature" stream and focused on "English Language" for GCE exams all those years ago!

I believe that Victoria is well satisfied with her results, as are my wife & I, and that her diligent work and your Academy's intensive tutorials immensely helped her to achieve such good marks which were rewarded with a P4 - 1.8 GHz computer and all the trimmings as a just reward for her diligence.

My wife & I, and I expect Victoria too, wish to thank you for admitting her and her school-mate to the very successfully organised English course.

Thank you for giving our daughter a very educational insight into English Literature - I even learned† &/or remembered a lot just reading her "homework" files.

Best Regards : Anthony & Virginia Green.

Dear Sean,

Freemont has been ideal for Brittany. I have always read over her school work and the difference between what she was able to do at Northern and what she can do now at Freemont is a difference, not of degrees, but of orders of magnitude. Freemont has made a profound difference in her accomplishments but more importantly in her attitude toward learning and her self-confidence. She takes pride in learning and the results she has achieved. She has an enthusiasm for learning which is marvelous to see. Both her mother and I feel you have prepared her for university in a way we could not have imagined a year ago. Many thanks helping her achieve her potential.
