

Sean,

...I also got my marks in the mail yesterday and wanted to thank you so much for them. I was very happy with myself and glad to have finished the year with somewhat of a bang, so to speak. I'm also ecstatic that I got the scholarship. It is really going to help everyone out next year. Yesterday, I was driving by the school on my way to work and it really hit me that I was never going to walk over to the bench and see all the friends I have made over the past two years. It made me remember how excited I was to come to school. There was never a day that I didn't want to be there. It made me very sad to think that when I come to visit it just won't be the same. I just thought to myself, wow it's really over. I feel like I took it for granted while I was there, how super supportive and friendly everyone was. I hope that Freemont lives on for many more years and other students get to experience high school the way I did, able to speak my mind and develop my own opinions without strict guidelines on what to study or write about. I miss it already and am scared to leave the bubble, but happy at the same time because I know I'm as prepared as I ever could be.

Keep it real,

Jackie
